KELLEY ON PROTECTION. England Under Forty Years of Free Trade-America Under Twenty

Years of Protection-Our Domestic Commerce Greater Than All England's Foreign and Domestic Commerce Put

Together. In a speech at the annual dinner of the Carriage Builders' National Association, at Philadelphia, Congressman Kelley said :

An article in a recent number of the St. James Gazette, entitled "The Progress of Great Britain Under Queen Victora," presents some con-trasts between her production in 1840 and 1880 which in themselves are startling, but which when compared with our progress since 1860 seem petty and commonplace. * * It is a fact that one State, and that not one of the original thirteen, though one of the earliest born children of the Union-Ohio-produces more carriages each year than England and France combined. * * Our writer tells us that England's production of coal in 1840 was 35." 000,000 tons, and that forty years later it was 147,000,000 tons. In 1860 we mined 14,063,980 tons of anthracite and bituminous coal, and twenty years later our product was 66,375,526 tons. England's increase from 1840 to 1880, a period of forty years, was but 420 per cent., while in twenty years, or between 1860 and 1880, our increase was 472 per cent. In 1840 the British production of pig iron was 1,396,000 tons. In 1860 we produced 821,223 tons, and in 1881 4,441,254 tons. England's increase in firty years was 596 per cent. Our increase in one-half the time was 504 per cent. In the mats ter of steel, as in that of carriagebuilding, statistics for comparison are wanting. I cannot give the British figures in connection with this industry, which is of very recent origin in this country. I can, however, show in a general way the march of our steel makers have stolen upon England. In 1840 we depended on Britain for our supply of steel; we manufactured none. In 1860, after many ineffectual efforts to establish steel works under revenue tariffs, we produced 12,355 tons, but it was not until 1867 that we succeeded in producing Bessemer rails as a commercial product. In that year we made cial product. In that year we made 2,276 tons of rails. In 1881 we produced of crucible and Bessemer steel 1,588,314 tons, and made 1,187,770 tons of Beasemer rails. Our cruci, thank you, Mr. Secretary, "Il be glad to." "Thank you, Mr. Orth, I bave a favor to ask you." "Anything I can do for you, Mr. Secretary, "Il be glad to." "Thank you, Mr. Orth, I be added that no impairment of mental strength is a characteristic ble steel is equal in quality to the best British steel, and our product of Bessemer rails exceeds that of Great Britain.
